Based in Beijing since 2006, I have started my career in the humanitarian/development cooperation sector, having worked for the United Nations (UNHCR/UNDESA) and for the Italian Development Cooperation (Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Embassy of Italy in Beijing).

Since 2012, I work for Dedalus, a Florence-based Healthcare ICT international Group specialized in the set-up of healthcare cross-institution networks through the development and deploy of Interoperability & Cooperation platforms.

My educational background includes a Bachelor in Oriental Languages and Civilizations (Specialization in Oriental Philosophies and Religions) at Ca' Foscari University (Venice), a Master Degree in Human Rights and Conflict Management at Sant Anna School of Advanced Studies (Pisa), and an Executive MBA at Hult/Ashridge Business School, with specialization in Marketing & Entrepreneurship. Dedalus was among the founders of the CICC Healthcare Working Group back to 2014. Since late 2017 I have been covering the position of Deputy Coordinator for the Group.
